

Are you interested in Volunteering in the Morris area?

Junior League of Morristown (JLM) women make a lasting difference in the community by creating programs that renovate and rebuild to help brighten spirits and neighborhoods alike. Through developing their leadership skills, JLM women volunteer their time, energy and abilities to tackle urgent needs in their communities and learn to:

- Work collaboratively with external partners, such as the Interfaith Food Pantry, to help solve critical issues like childhood obesity
- Implement short-term volunteer opportunities that target issues relating to the Morris Area community such as homelessness and domestic violence
- Lobby NJ legislators to influence public policy relating to critical needs of women and children
- Run the JLM's resale and consignment shop, The Nearly New Shop
- And much more!
