

THE JUNIOR LEAGUE OF MORRISTOWN OFFERS VOLUNTARISM
SCHOLARSHIP

This spring, the Junior League of Morristown (JLM) will be awarding a total of $10,000 in scholarships to high school seniors who have displayed outstanding community service. The primary criterion is a demonstrated commitment to voluntarism. Secondary criteria are leadership, extra-curricular activities, scholastic effort and work or family responsibilities. Financial need is not a factor for consideration. Applicants have to reside in Morris or Somerset counties, and must plan to attend an accredited college, university or trade school.

A scholarship application form is available on the JLM website www.jlmnj.org or can be obtained by calling the JLM office at 973-539-2266.

Completed applications are due in our office no later than January 31, 2007. Winners will be notified by March 30, 2007. Scholarships will be sent directly to the institutions in which the recipients will enroll.

The JLM has been awarding the Voluntarism Scholarship to high school seniors in Morris and Somerset counties for over 10 years to show our commitment to developing volunteers in our community.

The JLM is celebrating its 70th Anniversary as an organization of women committed to promoting voluntarism, developing the potential of women, and improving the community through the effective action and leadership of trained volunteers. Our purpose is exclusively educational and charitable. The JLM reaches out to women of all races, religions, and national origins who show an interest in and commitment to voluntarism.
